FRAZZLED TO A SIZZLE.

Since the meeting of that incorrigible New York Republican committee, the supposed omnipotent dictator of Oyster Bay knows what it is to be "licked to a frazzle."

According to reports, the infuriated and befuddled guardian of all nations spent more time pounding the table with his fist than tossing food into his esophagus while at luncheon with one of the frazzlers. Surely "the times are out o' joint."

EASILY POSSIBLE.

To the reporters who asked him if the speeches he is to deliver in the west will be under the auspices of the Republican congressional campaign committee, Roosevelt replied, patting himself on the chest, saying: "my speeches will represent my own views, and those of no one else."

As grammatically constructed, this utterance is capable of two interpretations, both reasonably correct.

SATISFIED WITH SHARP.

Speaking of Congressman W. G. Sharp of this district the Elyria Democrat says: "We believe the people of the district are thoroughly satisfied with the man, who was really voting against Joe Cannon at Washington the last two years, and voting against the iniquitous tariff bill when the chance came, and also those other measures which were being furthered by the big interests. We are convinced that they are so well satisfied with Mr. Sharp's record that a 'stand pat progressive' cannot dissuade them to change. Congressman Sharp has done things, has made good. The people know this and they are going to give him another term."

THE VERY SAME.

When the Republican voters of Ohio look back over the record of the Columbus convention they have reason to feel disgusted.

That same Walter Brown, the Toledo boss who was so vigorously denounced two years ago by the Toledo Blade and other Republican papers as one of the Cox-Guilbert-Brown triumvirate, was re-elected chairman of the Republican state central committee.

The same Charles Dick, who as senator has been called "a valet of Aldrich," was in his old place as chairman of the resolutions committee and read the stand-pat platform to the convention.

And the same Theodore Burton, another "valet of Aldrich" in the senate, officiated as permanent chairman of the convention, since which time Cox has called him "a rusty pin head" and he has called Cox several unpardonable names.

Likewise the same Nicholas Longworth, ever loyal to Cannon in the halls of congress and only recently a deserter because of his belief that Uncle Joe can't be elected again, was temporary chairman, sounder of the key-note, defender of the tariff, eulogist of Taft, and low comedian in attempts to ridicule Harmon.

Also the same "Old Boy" Cox, who arose in the midst of the third ballot and delivered the 91 votes of Hamilton county to Harding as a rebuke to Burton and to stop a Longworth stampede, ruled the roost.

Then that same Warren G. Harding, who has been in every faction of his party and on all sides of public questions during the past ten years was nominated for governor.

No wonder the same old Republican voters are weary of being ridden by the same old bosses and have resolved to "clean-up" on the whole outfit in November. "Harmon and a clean sweep next time" is the only way they have to get even at the ballot box, and you can hear just thousands of them saying that is what they are going to do.

EXPLOSION

Occurs In Lighting Plant Of Chesterville Store

And Two Salesmen Receive
Very Severe Burns

A distressing accident befell Messrs. Harold Corwin and Samuel Bonner, while at work in the Bonner dry goods store in Chesterville on Wednesday afternoon. At about five o'clock in the afternoon, the store began to grow dark and the two men began lighting the lamps, which were fed by acetylene gas. It was immediately seen that something was wrong and on investigating, it was found that there was a leak in the tank in the cellar. Mr. Corwin struck a match to ascertain the extent of the leak and the result was a disastrous explosion. Both men, who had their faces close to the tank at the time of the explosion, sustained terrible burns about the face, neck and shoulders. Surgical attention was summoned as soon as possible and the burns were dressed and soothing medicine was applied in order to lessen the pain. The result of the burns will not prove serious.

The Best Hour of Life

is when you do some great deed or discover some wonderful fact. This hour came to J. R. Pitt, of Rocky Mt., N. C., when he was suffering intensely as he says, "from the worst cold I ever had. I then proved to my great satisfaction, what a wonderful cold and cough cure Dr. King's New Discovery is. For, after taking one bottle, I was entirely cured. You can't say anything too good of a medicine like that." It's the surest and best remedy for diseased lungs, hemorrhages, lagrippe, asthma, hay fever—any throat or lung trouble. 50c, $1.00. has had one frightful drawback—malaria trouble—that has brought about suffering and death to thousands. The germs cause chills, fever and ague, biliousness, jaundice, lassitude, weakness and general debility. But electric bitters never fail to destroy them and cure malaria troubles. "Three bottles completely cured me of a very severe attack of malaria," writes Wm. A. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "and I've had good health ever since." Cure stomach, liver and kidney troubles, and prevent typhoid. 50c. Guaranteed by G. R. Baker & Co., and F. Fink of Fredericktown.

Y. M. C. A. NOTESReport From Camp Budd, by E. E. Bliss

The name, Camp Budd, will long be remembered by the boys who have had the opportunity of camping here. Perhaps the reader of this article has wondered what a boy does at this or any other Y. M. C. A. camp, and it is my desire to state some of the things that take place.

At arriving at the camp, the Scouts, Indians, of whatever name the boys travel under, receive a hearty welcome by the secretary in charge of the camp who at once takes opportunity to outline the rules and regulations of the camp and makes clear that there are little duties for all, leaders as well as regulars, to carry out for the best interest of the camp. At all times a leader is in charge of each squad. No one is allowed to leave the camp grounds without permission from the camp secretary. In the mornings a cannon signals for all to roll out, and after washing up, each one falls in line for roll call and flag raising. Everyone then with his outfit of dishes and Bible goes to the mess tent for breakfast, where all are well served with plenty of good food. After breakfast there is a ten-minute Bible reading and talk by one of the leaders after which every one washes his own dishes. Should the dishes be found soiled when presented for the next meal, the boy is sent out of line, to re-wash and to wait until all the rest are served. Other camp duties are cleaning up the mess tent, getting fire wood, cleaning up the camp grounds, carrying water, caring for cows, horses, goats, cats and fox. In this way the entire camp is kept in the very best sanitary condition. Even though there are several duties, there is abundance of time for sports and recreation, such as swimming twice a day, boating, baseball, tramps, etc., etc., at which our boys are having the time of their lives, together with boys from other associations. One of the most pleasant and helpful hours is at supper; each evening there is a pleasant program pulled off and camp fire. We are all tired at this time of the day, but not so much so as to forget to look Heavenward and thank Him, who is our Lord and Master, for the great pleasures of the past day and that we are a part of His great universe.

I feel free to say that if any one has been to Camp Budd and not had a good time, it is because he has not entered into the spirit of the camp and has not appreciated the efforts of the men who have made this camp possible. Our secretary, Mr. Bally, who is in charge, is a man of sterling quality and who thoroughly understands how to conduct a camp for the equal good of all concerned. There are no partialities shown, all the boys are treated equally. I feel confident that Camp Budd is destined to become one of the finest boys' camps in the country.

Yours in the work of making better men.

E. E. BLISS.

That a clean, nice, fragrant compound like Bucklen's Arnica Salve will instantly relieve a bad burn, cut, scald, wound or piles, staggers skeptics. AMERICAN HOME LIFE.

Somebody has been making very sweeping statements about American women in an article lately published in a well-known magazine. It would seem that faithful home affections are the exception and a woman with a sense of responsibility to husband and children far to seek.

"Life" however comes nobly forward as a champion of the wives and mothers of America, rebuking the writer for using his high opportunity to give a largely erroneous impression as to the conditions of domestic life in this country. While admitting that a few women have been reckless in the matter of divorce, "Life" recognizes that their experiences have served to prove the uselessness of such experiments to bring happiness. The great body of American women are devoted mothers and wives, and even in the cases of separation the step is by no means always taken, as this critic assumes, in order to make way for another marriage. Certainly it is sufficiently unjust to infer that the divorce is always of the woman's seeking, without sufficient cause.

The critic sees that the relaxation of parental authority is brought about by divorce, but there also "Life" takes issue with him, and says that this modern freedom of the child exists quite as much in the happy homes as in the wretched ones. The old time sternness has been set aside to good purpose, on the whole, and the child is being led by love and reason rather than by coercion. All these things point to better conditions to be arrived at after the old false ideals of marital happiness and paternal duty have been destroyed, and higher sense of them gained.
